Keeping Adults Safe

What do we mean by harm or abuse?

Abuse is when someone does something to another person which damages their quality of life or puts them at risk of harm. Abuse can happen once or repeatedly. It may be deliberate or unintentional.

Which adults may be at risk of abuse?

Some people over 18 years of age may be more at risk than others. This can include people who:

- Depend on others for their care.
- Are older, frail and unable to protect themselves.
- Have mental health problems.
- Have a learning disability.
- Have a physical disability.
- Have a sight or hearing impairment.
- Have dementia or memory loss.
- Misuse alcohol or drugs.
- Have long term health needs.
- Are carers.

Who can abuse or harm?

Anyone can cause harm. It is usually someone the person knows.

Where does it happen?

Abuse can happen anywhere: at home, in a care home, hospital or day centre, in a public place.

Types of abuse

Abuse can take many forms and may include:

- Physical
Hitting or injuring someone.
Restraining someone inappropriately.
- Emotional
Intimidating, threatening, or humiliating. Abusing racially, verbally or psychologically.
Exploiting someone.
- Sexual
Involving a person in sexual activity which is unwanted or not understood. Giving unwanted sexual attention.
- Sensory Deprivation
Lack of stimulation.

- Neglect

Not providing food, drink, clothing, attention or care.

Withholding aids or equipment for continence, walking, hearing or sight. Putting someone at risk of infection. Failing to provide access to health or social care. Misusing, overdosing or withholding medication.

- Imposed isolation

Refusing someone the company of others either at home or outside.

- Financial / Material

Stealing or misusing money, property or possessions.
Pressure in connection with wills, property or inheritance.

- Discriminatory

Treating someone less favourably and unfairly because of race, religion or belief, age, gender, disability or sexual orientation.

Self-inflicted injury may be a sign that abuse is taking place.
